

Mini-Symposium “Extraintestinal helminths of Cats and Dogs”

The Vetmeduni Vienna organizes a two-day online-symposium on extraintestinal helminths of dogs and cats with presentations and discussions of new findings, cases, diagnostic and therapeutic issues.

Language: English

The symposium will be held on the Collaborate platform of the university (institute of Parasitology):
<https://eu.bbcollab.com/guest/1f4e64a718b5474592e8177ecb1e04bb>

Moderators: Prof. Donato Traversa, University of Teramo, Prof. Anja Joachim, Vetmeduni Vienna

Schedule:

Tuesday, July 12, 2022

- |               |  |
|---------------|--|
| 15:00-16:00   | Donato Traversa, Univ. Teramo: Overview on feline (and canine) lungworm infections in Europe – what’s new?                   |
| 16:00 – 16:45 | Anja Strobl, Vetmeduni: Clinical presentations of lungworm infections in cats and dogs at the small animal clinic, Vetmeduni |
| 16:45 – 17:15 | Anja Joachim/Barbara Hinney, Vetmeduni: Diagnostic challenges in lungworm infections from a parasitologist’s view            |

Wednesday, July 13, 2022

- |               |   |
|---------------|---|
| 15:00-15:45   | Eberhard Ludewig, Vetmeduni: Radiological findings in cats infected with Aelurostrongylus        |
| 15:45-16:00   | Maria Unterköfler: First case of autochthonous Dirofilaria immitis infection in a cat in Austria |
| 15:45 – 16:30 | Michael Leschnik, Vetmeduni: Epidemiological changes of dirofilariosis in Central Europe                |
| 16:30 – 17:00 | Elisa Anne Theuerkauff, Vetmeduni: alveolar echinococcosis in dogs – 3 cases                            |

All interested parties are welcome!

Anja Joachim & Donato Traversa